U. S. 7-30 LOAN

the Secretary of the Treasury gives notice that sub-scriptions will be received for Coupon Treasury Notes, payable three years from Aug. 15th, 1864, with semi-anrual interest at the rate of seven and three-tenths per ent. per annum,-principal and interest both to be paid These notes will be convertible at the option of the bulder at maturity, into six percent, gold bearing bonds, U. S. Excise Taxes. payable not less than five nor more than twenty years from their date, as the Government may elect. They will be issued in denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1,000 and $5,000, and all subscriptions must be for fifty dollars or ome multiple of fifty dollars. The notes will be transmitted to the ausportation charges as soon after the receipt of the original Certificates of Deposit as they can be prepared.

As the notes draw interest from August 15th, persons naking deposits subsequent to that date must pay the interest accrued from date of note to date of deposit. Parties depositing twenty-two thousand dollars and apwards for these notes at any one time will be allowed commission of one-quarter of one per cent, which will be paid by the Treasury Department upon the receipt of a bill for the amount, curtified to by the officer with whom arest be made from the deposits.

Special Advantages of this Loan. IT IS A NATIONAL SAVINGS BANK, offering a higher ate of interest than any other, and the best security. Any savings bank which pays its depositors in U.S. otes, considers that it is paying in the best circulating edium of the country, and it cannot pay in anything better, for its own assets are either in government secu ities or in notes or bonds payable in government paper It is equally convenient as a temporary or perman investment. The notes can always be sold for within a fraction of their face and accomplated interest, and are the best security with banks as collaterals for discounts. Convertible into 6 per cent. 5-20 GoldBond. In addition to the very liberal interest on the notes for three years, this privilege of conversion is now worth 5-20 bonds is not less than nine per cent. premium, and before the war the premium on six per cent. U.S. Stocks was over twenty per cent. It will be seen that the actual ofit on this loan, at the present market rate, is not less than ten per cent. per annum.

Exemption from State or Municipal Tax. But aside from all the advantages we have enumerated, special net of Congress exempts all bonds and Treasury stes from local taxation. On the average, this exempion is worth about two per cent. per annum, according to the rate of taxation in various parts of the country. It is believed that no securities offer so great indu ents to lenders as those issued by the government. all other forms of indebtedness, the faith or shillity of prirate parties, or stock companies, or separate con ies, only, is pledged for payment, while the whole propobligations of the United States. While the government effers the most liberal terms ts loans, it believes that the very strongest appeal will be to the loyalty and patriotism of the people. Duplicate certicates will be issued for all deposits The party depositing must endorse upon the eriginal certificate the denomination of notes required, and whether they are to be issued in blank or payable to order. When so endorsed it must be left with the office ecciving the deposit, to be forwarded to the Treasury

SUBSCRIPTIONS WILL BE RECEIVED by the Treat the United States, at Washington, the several Assisit Treasurers and designated Depositaries, and by the FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF FREMONT, and by all National Banks that are depositaries of public money, and all respectable Banks and Bankers throughout the country will give further information and afforevery facility to subscribers. Aug. 12. 32w8

THE ANTIPODES OF HEATHERISM AND CIVILIZATION. Among civilized men the lightest class doubt

ess, comprises those who are devoted to fash ion. The chief attributes are gaudy clothing light literature and affected manners. They afands have sacrificed their lives, and a hundred ford abundant occasion for the gravest rebukes of the wise, and are targets for the satirical to shoot at with their most venomous darts. The severe bewail the folly of those who constitute the froth on the stream of civilized society, while the fun-loving simply amuse themselves at their expense. No characteristic of the lighter classes of people has provoked more severe criticism than their fickleness. Ever on the chase after some new thing, they are destitute of stability, and ever present any permanent, reliable qualities, Always more careful of appearances than of obstantial worth, they are strangers to thought, and wanting in good sense. A man of study and reflection is tempted to regard people of this sort as good for nothing, and to condemn them as scarcely having a right to existence. But there is just one way of considering their qualities which may bring relief. The changeable fooleries of the civilized world are less worthy of lament and criticism than the petrified fooleries of heathenism. After any intelligent account of these latter one may turn with real relief even to the bad features of civilized nations. I will illustrate. Several years since I was conversing with a gentleman who had resided some years in Syria. He told me of the mode of living among the natives, how they build houses, plow their lands, and get on with their labors generally. They plow to this day with the sharp pointed stick, and all their other labors are after the same fashion. Knowing that enterprising men are ready to introduce improvements all the world over, I enquired whether modern plows could not be introduced there. I learned that American plows have been taken there. A Yankee went once with a lot of them to sell. He went out into the field and showed the people how his plow would work, how superior to their old sticks, which at best, only scratched up the surface of the soil. After a full explanation of the value of the plow, and also seeing it work, the heathen reply was, "Will this son of three days teach us?" To explain the question it may be remarked that the people of that land are very tenacious of all the customs transmitted to them by their fathers .-Any new custom, or invention, or method of cting business, they contemptuously call "Son of three days." Their fathers have for centuries plowed with the sharpened stick. Therefore that is the model plow, and all improvements are worthless. Such is heathen logic. Of course society among such a people is merely a miserable corpse, a petrifaction. New ideas are scouted at once, because they are not according to by-gone generations, The Yankee returned without having effected the sale of his plows. I was also recently conversing with a gentleman who has lived thirteen years in Western India. I received pretty much the same account respecting the plow as that above possession of it. given from Syria. I inquired also about the grinding of grain for flour. The reply was-"We hire the natives to grind for us." Are and they shun every thing of the kind with for rest. great care. They suppose that all the English and Americans among them are christians, and wish to make them christians. They associate the eating of beef with christianity, and suppose that foreigners will try to get them to en it so as to make them christians. They will not eat flour unless they know where it was ground and by whom. They fear least the bones of cows will be ground with the flour, and thus be put into their food. So they prefer to grind their own grain. And there are no mills but the rude ones that have been used among composed of stone-cutters. These men dress a which the Government, wholly irrespective hard kind of stone for grinding grain. Two of party, regarded him on his first access-stones make a mill. One is laid on the ground. We regret the necessity which has caused the It has a hole in the centre, in which is a pin perhaps the cause of all his other troubles, > native soldiers to make them christians. The people are kept back from adopting the improvements of modern times, by their religious superstitions. The English Government is ready to put all improvements within their reach, but they will not have them. they will not have them. These instances present to us fogyism in its purest form. There are among men no more complete antipodes in character than these rmmies of heathendom, and the fickle, fashionable, shallow-brains of christendom. One found in civilized society are not the petrifactions of the old world. Inasmuch as the prejudices of the old world are found in their ideas of religion, the facts above stated show the impracticability of the course often recommended by sundry people as best to be pursued for their enlightenment shoemaker, the harnessmaker and carriage trim- They say-"Begin, not with religion, but with civilization. Teach them, civilize them first, then give them the Bible and Christianity."-But the trouble is that none but those converted to christianity are ever willing to accept your civilization. The most promising point of attack is in the matter of religion. They can be nore rapidly reclaimed from their heathen views of religion than their heathen want of civilization. The missionary method is by far the most eligible method of reaching them.-Thus, light and silly as the fashionable are, they are by no means so hopeless as the fogies of old heathenism. He who changes at all, even though it be too often, is open to new ideas, and may begin to live a new life. Therefore be not too severe upon him. "If ye love me keep my commandments. In all earthly attachments we do show the sincerity those whom earthly attachments hath bound us to, how much more infinitely is it our duty to love God! God is the great source from whence proceedeth love. "God is love." He made man holy. Man made himself sinful, and by acts of disobedience separates himself from that great source of love. And because God loved us he gave us his son. That son is Christ, the Saviour. His advent into the world was proclaimed by a multitude of the heavenly host, in a song of "glory te God in the highest, acquainted with that standard remody, lindause Poeter's heavenly host, in a song of "glory te God in the highest, and the cough Balsam. LETTER FROM THE 100TH O. V. I. ATLANTA, GA., Sept. 7th, 1864. EDITOR JOURNAL:-At last the "Gate City with its important position, is in the possess of the Union army. The object for which thous pusand more have labored almost incessantly for a period of four months, is now gained; and every loyal heart rejoices in the event. For four weeks Sherman's grand army invested Atlanta, opposed by a large and fearless army who fought with desperation, knowing that if they lost the city their last hope would fall with i But Gen. Sherman out-generalled the rebe commander by the most skillful movement tha has characterized the operations of any of ou commanders since the war began. About the 25th of August Sherman withdrew his army from the north side of Atlanta and moved it to the right of East Point, at the same time sendin the 20th corps to the Chattahoochie river. The rebels supposed that Sherman's army was re treating and sent a small force after it. On th evening of the 26th the rebels had a great jubi lee in Atlanta (as prisoners afterwards informed us,) when Gen. Hood made a speech stating that the Yankees were retreating, but they had sen a small force around south of East Point to draw the attention of the rebels in that direction se they could make a successful retreat, but they (the rebels) could easily gobble them. But in agine their consternation when they beheld Sherman's army coming down upon them from the south like in avalanche. Two corps of their army were sent to meet Shurman who gave them On the 31st Gen. Schofield moved his corp to the Macon railroad, four miles south of East Point, and completely severed the rebel army, and destroyed the railroad for several miles.— The next night the remaining force that was at Atlanta evacuated the place, first destroying their arsenal, founderies and eighty car loads of amunition, and made a hasty retreat, endeav-oring to join the rest of their command. The next day (Sept. 2d) the 20th corps took possess sion of the city. Gen Sherman drove the rebels ten miles south of Jonesboro and thirty south of Atlanta. The rebel army has been utterly pers of killed and wounded, a large portion defeated and greatly demoralized. They have ost all of 3,000 in prisoners besides large numbers of killed and wounded, a large portion of whom fell into our hands.

Last Saturday the 100th regiment was detailed to guard a wagon train to Atlanta, where we arrived on Sunday evening. Since that time the regiment has been quietly camped on the eastern side of the city. I understand the army is other. Cures guaranteed. Beware of Counterfeits and the city of the city. I understand the army is other. to fall back to this vicinity for restand recuper-ation, and that the 23d corps is to be stationed at Decatur, which is six miles east of this place Atlanta was evidently a city of considerabl wealth and importance before the war; but now it is a sad looking spectacle. A portion of the city was badly demolished by our shot and shell. All the machine works and founderies are destroyed. The stores were all removed, and the nost wealthy citizens left the city, although there are quite a number of families yet remain ing who would probably prefer living under Lincoln's rule than that of Jeff Davis. The greatest show of destruction is where they deroyed their largest foundery and four trains of ars loaded with ammunition, which all lie in one promiscuous heap of rains; cannon balls, pieces of shell, muskets, car trucks, and the various pieces of iron used in the structure of the building and cars were scattered over the ground burned and stove to pieces. But the railroad and depot were not harmed. Trains ran into Atlanta from Marietta within six hours after our They create a healthy appe DIABRHCKA AND DYSENTERY.—We have examined a great number of letters from some of the most prominent citizens of Cincinnati and Covington, etc., speaking in the highest terms of Dr. Strickland's Anti-Cholera Mixture for the cure of Diarrhosa and Dysentery. The letters are too long to publish. Mr. Woods of Covington, says he was pronounced incurable by the best Doctors in Cincinnati, and one bottle of Dr. Strickland's Anti-Cholera Mixture effected a permanent cure after suffering for months with the worst form of diarrhosa and dysentery. Another says he was discharged from the U.S. service after suffering in the hospital for eight months as incurable, and as a last resource tried Strickland's anti-Cholera Mixture, he got well directly and has now entered the army again in good health. One man writes he has cured seven or eight very bud cases of diarrhosa and dysentery in the barracks he was in with one bottle of this invaluable medicine. In fact we could fill half this paper with similar items from these letters. Why do not our government secure this valuable preparation. Our army ought to be supplied with it. It is but a short time since one of our med lad in a very lew condition at one of the Cincinnati hospitals, his wife was sent for, the doctors considered his an hoppeless. She, however, gave him Strickland's Anti-Cholera Mixture, and in three weeks he was able to return home with his wife to New DIARRHORA AND DYSENTERY .- We have him Strickland's Anti-Cholers Mixture, and in three weaks he was able to return home with his wife to New Bichmond, O. All these cases right at home speak for ihemselves. We hope all the soldiers will put a bottle of it in their knapsacks, it may save them or some of their comrades. Gents:—I ocen it due to you to state the magical effect of that one bottle of People's Cure which I obtained from you in November list. Seeing the advertisement of your Society, offering to give your medicine to Giergrmen for the poor of their parishes, I obtained a bottle for a poor girl of my congregation, who had tong been nearly help-less from Kheumatism, and strange to say, that one bottle cured her entirely. I write this, hoping that it may aid the Society in its efforts to introduce the medicine, and bless those who may need such a remedy; and I use strong terms, as I believe its merits will fully justify the most superfaire forms of speech. A bless those congress and believe its morns and congress, as I believe its morns are contaperative forms of speech.
